WON BY THE NEW YORK CLUB

IT WAS COLD FOR THE SPECTATORS, BUT COLDER FOR BOSTON.

The New Yorks Got Eight of their Ten Rank by Hard Hitting-A One-sided Game with Applause Properly Bestowed.

The people who went up to the Polo grounds yesterday afternoon to see the Boston hall players get away with the New York nine saw something very different. Cold as it was for the 2,800 shivering people on the stands it was very much colder for the visitors from Massachusetts. There was no brass band and no hurrah as on the opening of the season on Thursday, and the attendance narrowed down to the regular base ball lovers, who are always on hand. It was a pretty fair minded body of people, and, having made sure very early in the game that the New York Club was sure of victory, applause was bestowed discriminatingly upon the players of each club who acquitted themselves with credit.

The exhibition of batting was fine, and eight of the ten runs which the New Yorks made were upon safe hits off Buffinton's ferocious but ineffectual delivery. Keefe pitched a masterly game for the giants, and held the Bostons down to one single hit in the first eight indown to one single in the first eight in-nings. This fine work, together with the tor-rife manner in which the New Yorks got on to the curves of Buffluton destroyed the interest in the game. The Bostons were weak in the field because Burdock was badly crippled and in the game. The Bostons were weak in the field because Burdock was badly crippled and unit to play.

The New Yorks opened the run getting early in the first inning, when Connor began the fun with a three-base hit. Five more hits in this inning—three doubles and two singles—netted five earned runs and helped toward scoring the sixth run. After this inning Buffinton seemed to lose all interest in the game, and the New Yorks were able to hit him at almost any time that a hit was required. From the manner in which the pony battery of the New Yorks played yesterday it looked as if they would do some great work this season.

Six of the runs were scored by Keefs and Deasley. Deasley hit safely each time he went to the bat, while Keefs made three hits for a total of six. After the rush of the New Yorks in the first inning neither side scored until the third inning, when Tate got his base on balls, went to second on a hit by Hornung, and to third when Sutton got to first on an error of Ward. He scored on Poorman's fly out to Gillespie. In the fifth inning the New Yorks again bunched their hits. Three singles and an error of Hurdock netted two more runs.

In the seventh inning Keefe sent the ball over toward the 116th street station of the elevated railroad, reached third base himself, and let in two runs, both of which were earned from a single hit by Deasley and a three-bagger by Keefe, the latter ecoring on an out at first from Radbourne to Morrill. In the last inning the visitors added another run to their score on a hit by Morrill, a wild pitch, and a hit by Burdock. This ended the game. The score:

Republican Leaders Preserving Them for Material in the Coming Campaign. WASHINGTON, April 30 .- The Republican enders are in high feather over Jefferson Davis's reappearance, as they see in it a campaign issue, Senator Sherman said to-day that he was cutting out of the newspapers the speeches of Jeff Davis, and the descriptions of the demonstrations in the South over him, and putting them where they would be handy for use in the next campaign. He thought the Democrats were turnishing plenty of campaign material for the Republicans, and that good use would be made of it.

"As for Davis," said Mr. Sherman, "he is a monumental fool, a vain and disappointed old man, posing as a martyr grieving over his failure, and appealing for sympathy. What he failure, and appealing for sympathy. What he says is of no particular consequence. Everybody knows that he has felt just as he talks all the while; but the significant part of it all lies in the manner in which his words are received by the people. The demonstrations of approval, the enthusiasm they create that is what will affect the loyal element of the country and make the blood of those who fought to save the Union holl with indignation. The effort of the Democratic foarty for many years has been to convince the people that such sentiments as Mr. Davis utters are not citerished by the South. Every one who has charged that they do has been accused of reviving sectional issues and waving the bloody shirt. Yet Mr. Davis exclaims that the spirit of Southern liberty is not dead, and the whole mass of the people shout their enthusiastic assent."

mass of the people shout their enthusiastic assent."

Ex-Gov. Foster of Ohio, who is here, save that the effect of Davis's speeches will be felt in every village and hamlet in the North, particularly among those who were in the army, and the result will be seen in the returns of the next election. "You will hear that speech repeated from every platform and every stump in the Northern States, and before the campaign is over the Democratic party will wish that old Davis had been born dumb."

On both the Senate and House sides of the Capitol and among members of both parties the speeches are the subject of conversation, and wherever a knot of Congressmen are gathered one may be sure that they are discussing the political effect of them. The Democratic Congressmen are swearing at Davis and his managers. There have been a number of telegrams of remonstrance sent to Gen. Gordon, and he has been begged to suppress Davis, or at least to steer him off upon some other topics than those he has been discussing. In the excitement at Montgomery, said a Democratic Senator to-day. They don't realize what infernal fools they are making of themselves, but they will find out when they come to see what advantage the Republican papers and politicians will take of his utterances.

The selection of Mr. Hendrix was settled. The selection of Mr. Hendrix was well received by the Democratic leaders yesterday and by business men, irrespective of politics. He was born in Missouri about thirty-eight years ago. He was educated in Cornell University, and about fifteen years ago became a journalist. As the representative of Thr Sun in Brooklyn he became widely acquainted with the public men and affairs of that city.

He first appeared in politics as a member of the Jefferson Hall organization, which, under the leadership of the late Thomas Kinsella, brought about a reorganization, which, under the leadership of the late Thomas Kinsella, brought about a reorganization of the Kings county Democracy before it went out of existence in 1883. In that year Mr. Hendrix was henored with the Democratic nomination for Mayor, but he was defeated by Mayor Low by a narrow majority. He made a brilliant campaign, and has ratained the popularity with his party which he then earned. As a member of the Board of Education for four years he has taken a deep interest in the public schools, and has introduced many reforms in their management. He is also one of the bridge trustees, as well as Secretary of that body. He is a member of the Brooklyn Club, and a regular attendant of the Church of the Pilgrims. Gen. James McLeer, the procent Postmaster, has held the office since 1878.

MINNIE HAUCK'S CHILD.

Wealthy States Island Brewer. Hauck, was sent by Justice Coyle of Stapleton. S. I., to the Kings county pentientiary for six months on an accusation that she was drunk and disorderly. Yesterday Judge Clement of the City Court, Brooklyn, discharged her, holdthe City Court, Brooklyn, discharged her, holding that the Justice had no jurisdiction. Miss Hauck's lawyer, James G. Tighe, tells this story; Minnis Hauck, who is a very beautiful woman, was the mistress of a wealthy brewer of Staten Island, and she bore him a child. The brewer, with his wile's consent, adopted the child. Miss Hauck heard hast week that the child was to be taken to Europe, and wrote to the brewer asking to be allowed to see her before the child. before her departure. The letter was returned unopened. Thereupon the mother went down to Staten Island, and, it is said, had a quarrel with her former lover, who then preferred the charge against her on which she was arrested. She will sue him for false imprisonment."

Court heid Mr. Pish criminally liable for entries in a book which were not made by him, nor under his direction, nor with his concurrent or subsequent knowledge—a purely technical offence, if it is correctly held to be an offence. Besides, Mr. Fish was used as a witness in a state court in the conviction of Ward. Had he been so used in the United States courts he would be legally entitled to a pardon, according to all precedent. His heims so used in a state court gives him an equitable claim for relief. The jury could not have convicted Ward if they had not believed Fish's testimony that he was a victim, not a conspirator. Then we claim that Fish has been punished enough.
